A Score of Persons Drowned—Great Distress Prevailing.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) April 10.—(By The Associated Press.) Flood news from Columbus, Miss., reports the river has fallen and the town full of people from the surrounding plantations. The damage is great. Fourteen persons are known to have been drowned and it is thought the loss of life in the flooded territory is large.

At Columbus is so bad that the people have decided to ask Government aid. The town is feeding over 500 refugees and the subsiding waters will leave many people destitute up and down the river. It is impossible to tell how many people have been killed of the drowned, who are reported to number twenty as far as ascertained.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

AT THE THEATRE.—Musin Concert Company.

A TELEPHONE UP THE VOLCANO on Hawaii is the latest novelty for dwellers on the island. In the old days men rode on horseback ahead of the lava flow to let the settlers know there had been an eruption, but hereafter it will be necessary only to turn the crank and call up "Central."

"BRANDY DISTILLATION, an appendix to the biennial report of the Board of State Viticultural Commissioners for 1891-2," a pamphlet of 125 pages, has just been issued from the State office. It shows that 1,475,525 gallons of brandy were manufactured in this State during the last fiscal year.

OBSERVING that the ocean has always been considered a highway of transportation on which no monopoly could exist, the San Francisco Bulletin says the railroad combination seems to have practically exploded this idea. When ships leave San Francisco in ballast and refuse cargoes offered, under arrangement with that combination, water competition becomes merely a word for the railroads to conjure with in hoodwinking the public or dealing with the Interstate Railway Commission.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., went Republican in the last municipal election, after seven years of Democratic rule. Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Dayton, O., all showed Republican gains. Little Rhode Island covered herself with glory in the State election by choosing an entire line of Republican officials. All premonitory signs are that the Republican grand sweep has commenced and that it will about reach its full force by the time the national election comes along.

THE Rochester (New York) Democrat and Chronicle, which has devoted much attention to the subject of sun spots in concurrence with violent weather disturbances, calls attention to the marked appearance of the photosphere on the 80th ult., just preceding the recent big storms.

The solar disturbance which came by rotation on Wednesday, was in the sun's southern hemisphere. South of the group of spots was a vast field of faculae which involved a region which stretched nearly to the sun's pole. On Saturday this field of faculae was one of the most conspicuous objects on the sun's surface. One portion of the field looked like a great molten river curving southward from a point in advance of the sunspot group. In the sun's northern hemisphere a disturbance appeared on Thursday by rotation.

That there was a coincidence between the sun spots and the violent storms that prevailed from the 30th of March to the 5th of April cannot be disputed. This series of sun spots, if not dissipated, will return by rotation about the 25th inst. It will be interesting to note whether violent storms occur at that time.

THE horticultural officers of the county have another interesting case on hand in a consignment of Eastern nursery stock brought into Antelope valley. The trees, which number about 48,000, comprise peach, plum and apricot stock, and a careful inspection has shown that they are infested with at least two kinds of insects hitherto unknown to this State. These are the peach-borer and the black aphid. No adequate means of destroying the peach-borer has yet been found, and the black aphid, having wings, is liable to spread rapidly and infest the deciduous orchards of California. Legal steps have been taken to condemn the entire lot and have them destroyed. These drastic measures, while bearing heavily on individuals, seem to be the only way left to protect California fruit interests. For the common good it is best that consignees bow to the inevitable, and "grin and bear it." If the stock is infested, as claimed, the pests would in time destroy these trees and inflict great loss on the farmers who plant them as well as cause irreparable damage to other orchardists. It is better to face a comparatively small loss now, and burn the trees and their bugs.

THE report of the committee on reform in the civil service as made to the House contains a suggestion of great importance. The civil service act of January 16, 1883, among the exceptions noted to its provisions mentioned "any person merely employed as a laborer or workman." This has been construed as prohibiting the classification of such laborers. The committee in the bill which they report propose to do away with this exception. The President is empowered in his discretion to include these laborers in the classified service and extend the non-partisan system of appointment to every class of officials as Congress may provide the commission with means. The increased efficiency of the public service since the act of 1883 went into operation is sufficient warrant for the proposed widening of reform which, if it is to be observed, is left strictly within the judgment and will of the executive. The framing of the rules is left to the Civil Service Commission, but it is intended that these rules shall simply provide for proper evidence of the character and physical qualifications of the applicant. Tests of technical skill, where required, may be such simple ones as would be provided by any intelligent officer. As to the numbers added by the bill the committee find that probably 21,000 would be brought by it under the non-political system of appointments.

Railroad Land Grants.

The original Pacific Railroad laws contain large land grants of alternate sections of the public lands, which grants were made in alternate sections with the expectation that the lands would be put on the market and be sold to aid in the construction of the roads. It was thought that the people would readily purchase lands contiguous to or near a great railroad line, and settle upon them. To insure a speedy sale of such lands by the railroad companies a provision in about these terms was incorporated in the law: "If any of these lands are not sold or disposed of within three years after the completion of the road, they shall be open to homestead and preemption settlement, the same as any other public lands of the United States, but the proceeds of such sales shall be paid over to the railroad company."

The intention of this part of the law has been entirely ignored, and though the three years expired many years ago, no railroad lands are open to preemption or homestead settlement. The railroad companies get around this law by making a fictitious sale of the lands (not to settlers) to some credit mob or contractor and finance company. Thus the plain intention of Congress is thwarted and the people are cheated out of their inheritance. These fictitious sales by the railroad companies ought to be treated as a fraud upon the public and void.

Christian Science Murder.

It is a difficult matter to save people from the consequences of their own wilful folly. Some nations have tried legislation against suicide, and, though fine, imprisonment and disgrace were imposed as a punishment on the unsuccessful, and desecration of the bodies of the successful, it is doubtful whether many people who really wished to take their own lives were deterred through fear of the statutes.

Christian Science treatment, which must be regarded as a species of fanaticism on the part of the patient, that may run into suicide, offers some different phases. Here we always find an accomplice before the fact in the person of a so-called "healer." If the victim of his own blind belief suffers and dies, there is of course no way of reaching him; he has paid the penalty of his folly; but it does seem that the one who stimulated that belief, and perhaps over-influenced a mind weakened by disease, should be held amenable to the law.

Christian Science has made considerable headway in Southern California, and there have been several victims of the strange infatuation, some of whom have been children of tender years, prostrated with diphtheria or other malignant diseases, and who died without adequate treatment. When children are thus made to pay the penalty for the hallucinations of their parents it certainly seems that there should go up a universal protest, and the ones responsible should be visited by the severest penalties under the law.

A case of much interest in this connection has recently developed in Chicago. Mrs. Jennie Nichols, an inmate of a Wabash avenue boarding-house, was prostrated with peritonitis. Being a firm believer in the Christian Science doctrine, she summoned Mrs. R. L. Stebbins, a "healer," to her assistance. The landlady and boarders in the house, finding that the case was serious, used their best efforts to have medical assistance summoned, but without avail. They then notified the authorities, but officers sent there were denied admission, and when at last physicians found their way to the room the woman was dead.

sermon on the mount, and I told Jennie she would pull through."

"The great obstacle to Jennie's recovery," she continued, "was the hindrance of the moral minds of the people in the house. They did not believe in my art, and constantly asked my patient to call a doctor. This took her mind from her healing and weakened her faith, thus diminishing her chances of recovery. Last Tuesday she said she was feeling better and believed she would recover, but added that she believed she was troubled by a slight attack of indigestion. That was the first I knew of the indigestion, as I had been treating her only for the fancied poisoning. I then treated her for indigestion, denying that it had any power over mind, that the spirit is God and man is His image and likeness, and therefore man is spiritual and not material. Once she asked me if she had better take any medicine, saying folks in the house were constantly urging her to do so. I told her that if her fears and theirs were greater than her faith to take it. When she told me the people in the house had been troubling her about getting a doctor I told her if she wanted one, a physician, a surgeon or a Sunday-school teacher, or anything else, I would call one for her. She would not have one. She made the assertion to me that 'though he say me, yet will I trust in Him.' Just what I had been treating her for. I do not know, but I think it is from the book of Job."

Further inquiry developed the fact that Mrs. Stebbins' knowledge of medicine was acquired from conversation with some medical students who used to board with her, and an occasional attendance with them at an evening lecture of the Hahnemann Medical College. The question was asked:

"Suppose a man were mangled in a wreck, bones were broken and arteries were severed. Could your faith heal him? Would you treat him alone?"

To this she responded:

"I would deny the flow of blood, the broken bones. If the case came one for a surgeon I should summon one."

Then your art is not all-sufficient? It is all-sufficient, but I am not far enough advanced in who take the place of the surgeon. There are those who are and who have set bones and knit together severed arteries."

The jury returned a verdict recommending that Mrs. Stebbins be held to the grand jury. When the verdict was read Miss Hattie Stebbins, the faith-healer's daughter, who is an exponent of her mother's faith, started to cry.

"Stop," commanded the mother. "You do not care. You know you do not care."

"No," said the daughter, drying her eyes, "I do not care."

And thus the delusion was kept up all through.

The trouble with trying to punish such people is that they pose as Christian martyrs and enough sympathy is generally enlisted to get them clear.

The best way, perhaps, to protect people from such barefaced charlatanism is to expose it and appeal to the better sense of the community to condemn it. In the case of children who are brought under the malign influence of the faith, the peril of their lives, there should certainly be interference on the part of the authorities. With adults who voluntarily subject themselves to suffering and death the case is almost hopeless.

How the Trade Was Lost.

There is one point in connection with the closing of Bering Sea and the renewal of the modus vivendi that has not been sufficiently emphasized by the American newspapers, and that is that, under the old order of things, a commerce worth hundreds of thousands of dollars annually was lost to the Pacific Coast.

A few years ago nearly all the schooners engaged in taking seals were built either in San Francisco or on Puget Sound; were fitted out on the American side; were manned by Americans and returned regularly with their catch to some Pacific Coast port, where the skins were disposed of. The commerce that was thus built up in connection with this industry amounted to nearly half a million dollars yearly. It was under the Cleveland administration, when Bayard was Secretary of State, that this trade was lost to us.

Mr. Bayard, who was particularly aggressive toward some of the weaker Southern American powers, backed down completely in the face of the British bluff when the threat was made to release all seized British Sealers by the force of the British navy, if necessary. The result was that, while American sealers were seized and confiscated, vessels and cargoes and all, the British sealers were merely warned, as a matter of form, and were never molested although they went right on to the breeding grounds and slaughtered the seals—male and female—indiscriminately.

The next year all the sealers were built and fitted out at Victoria, on British soil. They returned there with their catches and this commerce was lost entirely to the United States. It has been Mr. Blaine's policy, in dealing with the Bering Sea question, to change all this so as to put American citizens on a footing with the British. Mr. Salisbury's bluff did not effect anything and when "poachers" are allowed in Bering Sea again it is safe to say that under a Republican administration the United States will get the benefit of this commerce.

An Ithaca "Chronicle Grumbler."

An Ithaca (N. Y.) newspaper (a clipping from which has been sent us by Mr. W. U. Hisey,) reports that J. T. Morrison of that place, who has been spending the winter in California, has turned himself loose as an unusually industrious and four-handed liar about this State, its climate, condition, and so forth. The antidote comes along with the poison, however, in the shape of the following letter to THE TIMES:

overflows have occurred and jets of lava have been thrown back on the banks from 100 to 150 feet. "Pele," says the Gazette, is evidently preparing a reservoir of molten metal preparatory to again doing battle with her old enemy, Kamapua, the water god. She has never made her preparations on a grander scale, and if the present activity continues it will only be a few months before the great breakdown of March, 1891, will be filled up and entirely obliterated.

Dr. J. M. Crawford, United States Consul at St. Petersburg, has made an interesting report on the utilitarian cultivation of the sunflower in Russia. Over 700,000 acres are devoted to it. One of the two varieties planted produces a small seed from which a valuable oil is extracted. The other yields large edible seeds that are considered as palatable as nuts. One mill in Russia turns out annually 1,500,000 pounds of sunflower-seed oil. The solid residuum is pressed into cakes for cattle. The export of these cakes in 1889 was 96,000,000 pounds. The sunflower is one of the very few plants that rival Indian corn in rapid, luxuriant growth and generous yield. The roots of the sunflower are large and thick, and in their decay are said to add 2000 pounds of fertilizing material to the acre. The merits of the sunflower have evidently not been understood in this country. It would yield most abundant crops in California, but as yet has hardly been grown for anything but chicken feed.

The man who "takes more papers than he can read" visited an Oregon town recently and a newspaper man who asked him for a subscription was repulsed with the sentiment of the quoted remark. A reporter followed the old fellow about and observed his actions during the day and here is the result: He wiped his nose on the awning, tried to blow out the electric light at the hotel, failed to light his cigar on it, paid 25 cents for an almond, put a nickel in the slot at the postoffice and kicked because the mail did not appear, wanted to kick the cashier of the bank because he closed at 8 o'clock and watched the clock sign in front of the jewelry store waiting to see it strike, and still he takes more papers than he can read—and is not happy.

JAMAICA has canceled its subsidy to the Canadian steamer, Reciprocity, transferring the bulk of the colony's commerce to the United States. But no American steamship line will get a subsidy from the Colonial Parliament, for the British policy reserves all such encouragement and protection exclusively for vessels which fly the British flag.

In St. Petersburg recently a microphone disclosed signs of life in a supposed corpse when all else failed.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Gerrymanders never pay. The Ohio Democrats tried one and found it out. The Ohio Republicans should profit by the lesson.

Senator Hill did not seize the opportunity to congratulate Senator Mills. Thus Mr. Mills has the credit of the Senator under the most flattering auspices.

The San Francisco Call intimates that Senator Stanford returns to California at this time in order to have a selection of such delegates as will please him sent to the Republican National Convention.

The Kansas City Star declares that no Missouri Democrat who is not a Cleveland man or who is not outspoken for him need expect to go to the Chicago convention. The Democratic politicians of Missouri are all for Cleveland.

As ex-Gov. John P. St. John of Kansas has positively refused to allow his name to be put forward this year as an aspirant for the Presidential nomination of the Prohibition party it is probable that Gen. John Bidwell of that State will be nominated.

A force of British troops in Burma was recently attacked by a much larger force of natives belonging to the tribe known as the Chils. And that is the kind of an onslaught this country is now preparing for. And the Chils will have it all their own way for the better part of a year.

Senator Hill says he invented the Reed (late Czar) rules. He says also that he suggested in his Elmhurst speech the recent knockout of the Silver Bill. It only remains for the Senate to establish his authorship of the late force bill to entitle him to say proudly "I am a Republican," and to be locked in the fraternal embrace of Cleveland.

The Alliance men are said to be jubilant over the breakdown of the Democratic party in Congress on the silver question. This display of cowardice, they say, will prove that the Democratic party can be broken from the Democrats, and it is believed that even in the Southern States all the advocates of free silver coinage will now honestly admit a third party movement and vote the Alliance ticket this fall.

The poet of the Atlanta Constitution (Dem.) has abandoned Hill and turned his attention to the third party, and it is well to note that there is truth as well as poetry in his jingle:

"Have you heard about the party of the third, third, third?
It's chuckin' of its baggage, and is ready for a start;
It's comin' with a hummin' from the meadows to the mart—
Oh, there's no doubt about that party of the third, third, third."
But it happens that the party of the third, third, third,
Though it's not about the headgear, is all right about the heart,
And it ain't a-goin' to harness up the mule behind the cart—
But the Democratic engine, when it whistles for the start,
Will pull along the party of the third, third, third!"

Excitement in Oregon Over a Political Murder.

Masked Robbers Hold Up a Rancher Near Paso Robles.

The Hessian Fly Busy in the Wheat Fields Up North.

A Dispute Over a Reservoir Site in Arizona Leads to a Serious Shooting Affray—Other Coast Happenings.

By Telegram to THE TIMES.

BAKER CITY (Or.) April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] Additional particulars received from Westfall, Malheur county, say that the killing of William Humbert by the Bailey brothers at the Democratic primaries yesterday was unprovoked. The election contest was close and exciting. Considerable whisky was consumed and bad blood soon commenced to crop out. At one time two contestants for delegate were taken by the Bailey boys who were on the latter attempted to vote. Hot words followed. In a few minutes Humbert started for home. Shortly after one of the Bailey boys said that he had been cut on the arm by Humbert. A brief conference was held and one of the gang suggested that it would be proper thing to take him and kill him. Five of the number at once mounted their horses and started to carry out their murderous threats.

When Humbert had arrived within a short distance of home he was overtaken by the Bailey boys who were on swift horse, and it is alleged, riddled him with bullets, four shots taking effect in his back. Humbert's little daughter saw the shooting and ran to her father, but was too late to see him.

Excitement runs high in that section and strong threats of lynching are indulged in by the cowboys. Sheriff Fell is doing all in his power to protect the prisoners and has petitioned Gov. Penney for detail Co. F or Co. G of this city at once.

A telegram has just been received from the Governor ordering the militia to depart immediately. If the cowboys who are now organized do not carry their threats into execution by the time the militia arrives the murderers will be escorted to this city for safe keeping.

CRIME IN ARIZONA.

Shooting Affray Growing Out of a Dispute Over a Reservoir Site.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] A serious shooting affray took place this afternoon at the dam-site at the Rio Verde, twenty miles from this city. Capt. John King two years ago located a dam-site and claim and has expended in the neighborhood of $5000 improving and surveying the same. Six months ago a company of Minneapolis capitalists jumped the claim and began a series of improvements. They have been working a force of twenty-five or thirty men since that time and have likewise acquired title to about 50,000 acres of land lying under the contemplated reservoir.

Yesterday King ordered the party to quit work at the point of a rifle, which they did. Later he insisted on their leaving their camp, and upon their refusal, fired several shots, none taking effect. The camp cook, named Crum, returned the fire, hitting King in both legs. He was brought to this city in a precarious condition. It is thought he will die. Crum is under arrest. It is likely a bitter feud will follow for possession of the dam site.

MASKED ROBBERIES.

A Rancher Held Up and Robbed—One of the Outlaws Arrested.

PASO ROBLES, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] Yesterday a farmer named Pat Doyle came in and drew $2000 from the bank. After paying a few bills around town he started home late. When out a quarter of a mile he was stopped by two masked men and at the point of a pistol compelled to hand over his money. He was then ordered to drive on. After going a short distance Doyle turned back and notified Marshal Minneheimer, who, after going to the scene and getting particulars, was satisfied as to the guilty parties. He made one arrest this morning. The other will follow today. Both robbers live here with families. Names are withheld till further evidence is furnished.

Railway Building in Arizona.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 10.—Parties in from Ash Fork, the present camp of the graders on the Santa Fe, Phoenix and Prescott road, say that, notwithstanding the heavy snowfall, teams and 500 men are busy pushing the work as rapidly as possible toward Phoenix.

Phoenician, Lagtry & Son, contractors, are advertising for 1000 more men and teams to be put on as soon as the snow melts.

The town of Florence has granted a right-of-way and depot grounds for the road, and it is supposed one of these came on causing him to fall into the water.

Burglars at Petaluma.

PETALUMA, April 10.—This morning before daylight the store of M. E. Raphael was burglarized by two persons. It is supposed they entered by cutting through a glass door and removing the bolt. The safe was broken badly and the combination ruined, but before reaching the money the burglars were scared away by some neighbors. The thieves are known and Marshal Collins and his officers are close on the track of them. They are said to be green hands at the business.

A Victim of Epilepsy Drowned.

NAPA, April 10.—Holly Crab, son of H. W. Crab, a prominent wine man of Oakville was drowned early this morning. Crab went fishing in Chile's Cañon with companions. He left the camp after drinking water. Not returning, a searching party was made and he was found lying face down in the creek dead. He was subject to epileptic fits, and it is supposed one of these came on causing him to fall into the water.

A Backstreet Takes Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The barkentine Mary Winkelman sailed this morning for Honolulu, but when several hours out smoke was discovered issuing from her forehold, and she at once returned to port. She was met off the heads by tugs and towed to the sea wall and her hold pumped full of water. The extent of the damage is unknown.

The Hessian Fly Up North.

PETALUMA, April 10.—The Hessian fly is at work in the wheat in this section. Some fields are already badly damaged by them.

GETTING TO BUSINESS.

Appropriation Bill Will Now Have the Right-of-way in Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] After several weeks devoted to the tariff question, appropriation bill now have the right-of-way in the House. The bills are well advanced and if the programme for the next two or three weeks is carried out the question of an early final adjournment will rest with the Senate. The House, however, is pursuing a policy of retrenchment, and so long and probably acrimonious conferences between the two branches of Congress must follow action by the Senate on the appropriations before the bills can be enacted into law. Tomorrow is District of Columbia day, but it is proposed to spend part of the day on the Urgency Deficiency Appropriation Bill. The Indian and District of Columbia Appropriation bills, which passed the Senate, will be put in conference during the week. The Naval Appropriation Bill will probably be taken up on Tuesday. Its consideration will occupy at least two days, and may probably run till the close of the week. There will be little discussion on the bill as a whole, but the Republican minority, aided by some Democrats who oppose the recommendation of the majority of the Naval Committee that only one new cruiser be authorized, will make an earnest fight to have the bill amended so as to authorize the construction of two new line-of-battle ships and perhaps some torpedo boats.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill will follow, and probably occupy the rest of the week. Beside these bills, there is on the calendar the Consular and Diplomatic, and River and Harbor Appropriation Bills, which, in the following week, will be taken up in the order named. The committee at work on the Appropriation Bills has not reported to the House, and before the bills on the calendar are acted upon most of the following bills will have been reported to the House: Postoffice, Agricultural, Legislative, Executive and Judicial, Fortification, and General Deficiency Bills.

The Senate is to listen to several speeches this week. Mr. Gallinger has given notice of his intention to speak tomorrow on the subject of his bill for the creation of a sanitarium for pulmonary diseases, and Mr. Chandler, is to follow with a speech on the subject of the election of Senators by a direct vote of the people. The West Virginia Direct Tax Bill is the special order for Tuesday, subject to further postponement, owing to the absence of Senator Merrill. Mr. Hoar's bill, amendatory of the Circuit Court of Appeals Act, is unfinished business, but before it is taken up again the Senate, according to a recent order, will devote a whole day to the consideration of bills on the calendar which do not meet counter objections. It is also expected during the morning hours of the present week that additional speeches on the subject of silver will be delivered by Mr. Teller and others.

Death of Gen. Field.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Gen. Charles W. Field died in this city unexpectedly last night of Bright's disease. He leaves a widow and two sons.

A Great Coal Monopoly.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The World's Scranton (Pa.) special says: C. D. Simpson and F. M. Watkins, coal operators in Wyoming Valley anthracite region, large owners of stock in Erie and Western Railway Company and also interested in Delaware and Hudson Company, returned yesterday from New York. They declare they have positive information that the Vanderbilt and Reading interests have joined hands and obtained almost complete control of the anthracite production in this country. With the Delaware and Hudson road in the coal combine they say the Pennsylvania road with its 10 per cent production is the only corporation antagonistic to the monopoly.

More Land for Settlers.

EL PASO (Oklahoma,) April 10.—Gov. Seay is here making arrangements for opening the reservation. Surveyors report that the platting of county seats is completed.

GUTHRIE, April 10.—The rush of boomers continues at this place. Settlers are procuring cattle and driving rapidly to the line of the reservation. A large number of negroes are among the throng of intended settlers. Many are almost entirely destitute.

Resisted the Health Officers.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The health board was busy visiting the smallpox infected districts of Brooklyn today. Two children with the disease were removed yesterday and a third was discovered today. When the officials attempted to move the boy his father fired two shots at the doctors, neither taking effect. Other occupants of the house participated in the row, and the police were called in to quell the disturbance.

The Rustler War in Montana.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) April 10.—Word is received at Douglas, Wyo., of a fight on Powder River between cattlemen and rustlers, but no particulars whatever can be learned. The rumored hanging of Jack Flogg, a rustler, by cattlemen cannot be confirmed. The avenging cattlemen are thought to have been encamped temporarily on the site of old Fort Reno.

A Keystone Educational Scheme.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—The American Society for the Extension of University Teaching decided to establish a university extension seminary for training university extension lecturers and organizers. Prof. Edmund J. James of the Wharton School of Finance and Economy of the University of Pennsylvania was elected director.

Dominion Boodle Suits.

AFFAIRS IN CHILE.

The Financial Situation Serious—Some Old Charges Revived.

NEW YORK, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] The Herald's Valparaiso correspondent telegraphs: "The financial condition of Chile is causing much comment in leading journals. Exchange yesterday recorded 180, and will probably fall more. The government will have to meet engagements in Europe this year of $200,000. Furthermore, in the present state of the world's markets Chilean exports of wheat, copper and silver are very low. This is another cause for the fall in exchange and rising of prices. The railroad service is demoralized. Grain and other produce cannot be moved owing to the lack of cars and the cupidity of officials."

Dr. Trumbull yesterday gave me a signed statement in which he asserts that he has undeniable proof that one of United States Admiral Brown's officers, on August 20, 1891, gave Intendente Viel of Valparaiso the results of an examination of the results of the Battle of Placilla, as the military situation of the Congressional army at the Concon engagement was such that had the news not been given the Balmacedists the second battle would never have taken place. Investigation of the affair is solicited."

Contracts have been signed for the establishment of Chinese colonies in the state of Tannan.

A Committee of Twenty will present to President Diaz a protest against the reception of battle flags from the United States.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Session Sermon at Immanuel Church.

Eloquent and Impressive Appeal by Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

Thomson's Discourse at the Church of the Unity.

Usual Services at St. John's—Interesting Temperance Talk at Y.M.C.A. Hall—General Religious Notes.

It is not very often that a Los Angeles audience listens to such an eloquent and impassioned appeal for missions as that which was given yesterday morning in Immanuel Church by Rev. Arthur Mitchell, D.D., secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. It would seem impossible that even the most skeptical person could listen to such an appeal and then go away and ask "Do foreign missions pay?" About three years ago Dr. Mitchell made a circuit of the globe and visited the various mission stations on this church, especially those on the Pacific coast, and his description of the progress of Christianity in foreign lands was most hopeful. He stated that during the past year a single presbytery in China had added more converts to the church, in proportion to its numerical strength, than any presbytery in the United States, with one exception.

Dr. Mitchell leaves for Pasadena this morning, and after a few weeks of rest in Southern California he expects to attend the Presbyterian general assembly, which convenes in Portland during May.

THE CHURCH OF THE UNITY. In treating his subject yesterday morning "He Saved Others; Himself, He Cannot Save," Dr. Thomson took for his text Matt. xxvii, 42. The Bible is inspired in the sense that the men who wrote it were guided in what they should write and record, but the rule cannot be stretched so as to cover such utterances as those of the text with the mantle of inspiration. And yet the words, though uninspired, were true. Numerous illustrations followed. The greatest enemy of civilization is theology, not religion. Theology in the name of religion has made men hate, burn and persecute one another. Ireland today is in not half as bad a condition as the papers represent, and her troubles could be cured if the priests on the one hand and the Protestants on the other, would sink theology, give up trying to make church property exempt from taxation, pay their bills like other people and become Christians in fact as well as in name.

"Christ died on the cross, deserted. His agonized prayer was unanswered, the nails did not kill him; he died of a broken heart," said Dr. Thomson. In this view it may be remarked that the eloquent speaker is upheld by Dr. Stroud in his elaborate work on "The Physical Cause of the Death of Christ." Prayer is often unanswered in this world and the desired success is attained only through a series of defeats. In a magnificent peroration the speaker proceeded to preach the "gospel for the defeated" and showed how in the world's history failure has been crowned with success at last. In steam and electricity such results are apparent and in the problem of aerial navigation success will come. In the moral problem of temperance, bad as the outlook is at the present day, the time is coming when that victory also will be attained.

Miss Boynton's solo at the offertory entitled "The Good Shepherd" was sung delightfully. The subject for next Sunday will touch upon the resurrection and is called "The Risen Christ's Conversation at Emmaus."

The church trustees held their adjourned monthly meeting tonight.

TEMPERANCE AT Y.M.C.A. HALL. Yesterday afternoon at Y.M.C.A. Hall George Lorin McNutt of Oakland delivered an address on the "Perils of Great Cities," illustrated by seventy-five stereoscopic views of the slums of New York and San Francisco, and preceded by an illustrated song service. During the course of his lecture, which was certainly one of the most interesting that has been given for some time in the auditorium, he described in a vivid manner the many evils of life in the slums.

He opened his address with the announcement that a prominent citizen of Oakland had promised to build and endow in that city a church having all the leading features of the Y.M.C.A., and that the lecturer intended to make a tour of investigation in the leading cities of the United States and Europe with the object of finding any new features that would be essential to the success of an institution having for its purpose the uplifting of young men and counteracting the almost irresistible inducements now held out by the saloon and the gambling den to young men, and he firmly believed that the many evils of city life which beset the young man today could be overcome by the reforming influence of Christian surroundings. The lecturer said he hoped the time was not far distant when the mayor of a city would be sent into political oblivion who refused to listen to the appeal of a heartbroken mother that the license of the saloon be revoked who had been the means of her son's ruin. This remark, along with many others, was met with hearty applause. The audience was an unusually large one.

After the meeting a class of forty was formed to study the Bible with special reference to doing personal work in connection with the Mills revival meetings to be held next month. It was conducted by Mr. H. Hillard, and will be conducted each Sunday until the evangelistic meetings begin.

Messrs. E. E. Smith, A. W. Hare, Miss Forrester and Mrs. Bender kindly assisted with vocal solos, the solo by Mrs. Bender being beautifully rendered.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH. St. John's Episcopal Church was very prettily decorated with palm branches yesterday in honor of Palm Sunday. There were large congregations both morning and afternoon, and the afternoon service the rector, Rev. B. W. R. Taylor, delivered the last lecture of the Lenten course, the subject being "Our Sacraments." He first defined a sacrament to be an "outward and visible sign of an inward spiritual grace given us," and confuted the theory that the two great sacraments, baptism and the Holy Eucharist, were mere forms. The teaching of the church regarding baptism was outlined. Passing to the Holy Communion, the various theories known as transubstantiation, consubstantiation, symbolism and the real spiritual presence, were considered. In recapitulating the arguments of the various lectures, stress was laid upon the point that Christianity contains a natural and a supernatural element. Among the various bodies of Christians the belief in these elements is taught more or less according to the standards of that body. Among some so great is the position accorded to the supernatural element that the strictest and most implicit obedience to authority is demanded; and among others so great is the prominence accorded to the natural that liberty has degenerated to license. The Episcopal Church seeks to adjust these various elements, neither eliminating one nor blinding its eyes to the existence of the other. The church, therefore, is not an aggregation of human units, bound together by mutual consent, but a divine institution comprising a human membership. The Bible likewise is not a mere historical record, for a supernatural inspiration illumines its natural language of human writers. The ministry is not only the officers of an institution, but is also "stewards of the mysteries of God." The sacraments are not mere water, bread and wine; they are alive with a special supernatural essence. This is the religion which commends itself most to men, who possess a natural body and a supernatural soul.

CHURCH NEWSPAPERS. Of more than 600 church publications the Methodists publish the largest number of any one denomination, sending out 147 different newspapers, whose combined circulation is 650,000. The Catholic church comes next with 137 newspapers, and a circulation of 750,000, and the Baptists are third in rank, distributing among 500,000 subscribers 126 different periodicals. The Presbyterians publish fifty-three newspapers, with a circulation of 250,000, and the Congregationalists send out twenty-one different publications to 150,000 readers. The Episcopal church publishes forty-seven church papers; the Lutheran, thirty-seven; the Christian, fourteen; the United Brethren, seven; the Disciples, the Friends, the Unitarians, each six; the Universalists, eleven; the Jews, thirteen; the Salvation Army, three, and the Order of King's Daughters, one.

TEMPLE STREET CHRISTIAN CHURCH. Rev. A. C. Smith, pastor of Temple street Christian Church, preached to a large congregation yesterday morning upon the subject of "Consecration." In the evening he delivered a most interesting and instructive discourse upon "Youth," in which he directed his remarks especially to the boys and young men. He argued that Christianity is the only great religion that deals with childhood. It is a wise dispensation of Providence that at one time in life we are all innocent and that God is ever bringing the older persons into contact with the innocence of youth. We remember the events of youth because of their vividness; the foundations of our future characters are laid largely by the environments of youth; it is a time of planning, devising and laying life plans. The thoughts of youth are long thoughts. "The child is father to the man." The enlarged upon dangerous habits to be avoided in youth, especially on the part of boys. Among the great duties of youth is obedience to parents, who have a right to demand it. They love their children and will not neglect their interests. A boy should be independent; he should learn to be industrious, self-reliant and should have his plans for life laid early. The world's greatest success in every avenue of life has been chiefly by the pursuit of a single profession, the passion of youth. In their great responsibility, the test of success, perhaps, was best tried by springs of strength found and opened in youth. Opportunities were never so good as now; demands for educated boys and young men were never so great. Education is absolutely necessary to success in this age. The greatest consideration of youth, however, is Christianity. When the seeds of divine truth are sown early, many of life's greatest dangers are avoided and noblest pleasures are enjoyed.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH. At the Trinity M. E. Church, South, yesterday Rev. Dr. Stradley discoursed from the text, "God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself." This is the gospel in epitome. Paul was a logician rather than an enthusiast. The doctrine of the incarnation is more strongly buttressed than in any other. He enlarged upon dangerous habits to be avoided in youth, especially on the part of boys. Among the great duties of youth is obedience to parents, who have a right to demand it. They love their children and will not neglect their interests. A boy should be independent; he should learn to be industrious, self-reliant and should have his plans for life laid early. The world's greatest success in every avenue of life has been chiefly by the pursuit of a single profession, the passion of youth. In their great responsibility, the test of success, perhaps, was best tried by springs of strength found and opened in youth. THAT SAN DIEGO CIRCULAR.

Benjamin McLeran Denies that He is the Author of It.

In the San Diego Union of the 9th appears this card: To the Union: I desire to state in regard to the Washington circular, lately the subject of comment by you, that I am not its author, nor had I any knowledge of it whatever. Very respectfully,

BENJAMIN MCCLERAN. This denial of reputed authorship refers to the malicious circular which was distributed among Senators and Congressmen at Washington, maligning San Pedro Harbor and its friends and praising the advantages of San Diego. It was signed, "Benjamin McLeran, civil engineer," and was attributed to the man of that name who is said to be a deputy in the city engineer's office of San Diego.

While the San Diego Union, from the first, denounced the circular as the act of an individual who had no authority to voice the sentiments of the city, the other morning paper, the Sun, championed it and reiterated the truth of the statements made. Now that the reputed author denies his connection with the matter, San Diego detective talent will have an opportunity to ferret out the real culprit.

"Skillful cure increases longevity to the world." "Ingeniously locating diseases through the pulse and excellent remedies are great blessings to the world." The above are two facsimiles of many REWARDS OF MERIT or DIPLOMAS OF PROFESSIONAL SKILL which have from time to time been awarded to the CELEBRATED CHINESE PHYSICIAN, DR. WONG, for his superior medical abilities and curative powers. It has long been customary among the Chinese people when one becomes sick and when repeated attempts to cure him have failed, and he is perhaps given up to die, if after having been taken to an eminent physician, he is cured of his disease—the cured, too in addition to the regular fee for professional services rendered, makes the physician a present as a token of gratitude for his restoration to health and the prolongation of his life. This present consists usually of a broad plank, presenting much the appearance of a sign-board, filled with characters entirely meaningless to the average English scholar, but full of meaning to the successful physician and his friends. It is a motto which highly compliments the physician for his great skill in effecting a cure of the disease which once afflicted the donor. It is not an uncommon thing to see a great number of these COMPLIMENTARY DIPLOMAS adorning the office walls of Chinese physicians in their native country, and indeed a number of the most successful ones in this country are the happy possession of a few of these tokens of very superior medical ability. DR. WONG has won a great many of these prizes and two of them adorn the front of his famous Sanatorium. See the testimonials accompanying them in the Sunday issue of THE TIMES. Hundreds of other testimonials are on file in the doctor's office, which he has received from his numerous American patients whom he has cured of all manner of diseases.

ANOTHER GAME LOST,

And the Giants Drop Into Second Place.

Great Baseball at Athletic Club Park Yesterday Afternoon.

Runs Made in But Two Innings During the Entire Game.

The Visitors Won by a Score of 3 to 2—The Ducks Again Knocked Out by the San Francisco.

If the game put up at the Athletic Club yesterday afternoon is an indication of what the Colonels and the Angels are doing during the balance of the season, they are certainly getting into first-class fighting trim pretty early in the season. Yesterday's contest was witnessed by 2500 people, who got the worth of their money, for the game was replete with fancy fielding and brilliant battery work. Roach and German were pitted against each other again, and the blonde south-paw had the best of it, but the Oaklanders won by bunting three of their seven hits in one inning, one of them a double, and this, with the assistance of an error and a couple of stolen bases, netted three runs and won them the game.

Wright was an easy out at first on Bushman's assist in the first inning, but Tredway skinned the ball along the third base line for two bases. Then Smith dropped. Glenavlin's fly, a "Pop" McCauley scored them both with a two-bagger to center.

Good batting work and sharp fielding blanketed the Colonels for five innings, although in the second Bushman singled and Hutchinson walked to first before the side was retired. In the third Smith opened with a single, second and O'Brien sacrificed him to third, but he could not score.

It began to look like a "Chicago" scene when O'Brien fouled out to Rogers in the sixth, but Hardie reached first on Hasamaear's error and Carroll singled. Neither side was able to score during the balance of the game. Both pitchers worked like Trojans and the Colonels were unable to hit Roach after the fatal sixth.

The Angels played in hard luck in the sixth. Newman singled and "Kid" Hulen sacrificed him up a peg, but he was doubled up by Roach. In the eighth Bushman's error gave McCauley a life, and Hasamaear singled, but German's good right arm retired the next three men, who were unable to place the ball in safe territory. Taken altogether, the game yesterday was a splendid exhibition of professional ball playing and the prediction ventured in THE TIMES recently that the Colonels would be strictly in the race as soon as they got into condition will be generally accepted by those who witnessed yesterday's game. GAME UP NORTH.

The Champions Defeated by San Francisco—Score 6 to 4.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—[By the Associated Press.] San Francisco won a game from the champions through a combination of errors, timely hitting and bad decisions by Otto Young, who has succeeded McDermott as umpire. Leavy drove the ball to the club house for four cushions. Denny and Reitz did great work at third, as did Roberts in the outfield. The score is as follows:

The Western League season opens next Saturday.

Uncle Henry Harris will lead the California League for three days at least.

While in San Francisco the Angels will put up at the Langham House, corner of Mason and Ellis streets.

Col. Robinson always comes up smiling whether he wins or loses. It is more natural for him to lose, anyway.

"Kid" Hulen is just recovering the use of his throwing arm, which he has been sore ever since he was in training at San Diego.

There is no foundation in the report that the local management is contemplating the release of one or two men. Manager Glenavlin says every man will be given a fair trial and although two or three have not yet struck their gait the team as a whole is improving every day.

Rogers bunted the ball along the third base line yesterday, and although it was picked up fair Umpire McDonald decided it was foul. Among those who kicked at the decision was "Rasty" Wright, who yelled "Rats!" "That costs you five," said the umpire, holding up five fingers by way of illustration. Roach and Tredway have also been fined $5 each for disputing McDonald's decisions.

The Big Twelve Club National League opens up tomorrow. Boston plays in Washington, Brooklyn in Baltimore, and New York in Philadelphia on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, while on Wednesday the Cincinnati Reds play in Louisville, and Chicago in St. Louis. There is only one big league this year, and it promises to be the most successful season ever known in the history of baseball.

Umpire McDonald went north last night with the Oaklanders. Taken all in all, his work here has been satisfactory. He made mistakes, to be sure, but his heart is right and if "Sandy" McDermott's work is as satisfactory the fans will have no complaint to make about the umpiring. Monday afternoon, Umpire McDonald says Los Angeles and San Francisco are the two fairest cities on the Coast for an umpire, while San José is pretty one-sided.

The Los Angeles Club leaves for San Francisco tomorrow afternoon. They open with Oakland at the Piedmont Park on Wednesday afternoon and will play there also on Friday afternoon. On Thursday, Saturday and Sunday the Angels play at the Haight street grounds in San Francisco. Next week Los Angeles and San Francisco play five games on the same schedule as this week's games with Oakland, and the week following the boys go to San José for five games, returning home May 3.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS.

The Coming Bench Show—Entries Pouring in—Childs' Challenge.

The entries for the bench show of the Southern California Kennel Club, to be held at Hazard's Pavilion next week, are already being received in numbers which augur favorably for the success of the event; and from present indications there will be a large turnout. Since the issuance of the premium list several additional special prizes, including some handsome cups, have been offered by various business firms, and the committee has concluded to allow pure bred puppies, under six months, to be exhibited for sale or otherwise, upon payment of an entrance fee of $1, each extra puppy occupying the same stall being twenty-five cents additional.

As the entries positively close on Saturday next, the 18th inst., intending exhibitors should send their forms in as early as possible this week, in order to allow the secretary time to attend to other details, which need his superintendence.

The following challenge was left with the sporting editor of THE TIMES a few days ago:

I, John Jones, do hereby issue a challenge to the best of the world, to fight any man in the world to a finish, at 158 pounds, Marquis of Queenberry rules, bar Bob Fitzsimmons, in any reputable club offering the last purse, Alex Greggains of San Francisco preferred.

Childs, since his recent fight with La Blance, has received overtures from the Occidental Club, which offers a purse for a match with a colored middle-weight named Johnson. The offer was, however, refused, as Childs' left hand, which was damaged in his fight with "Marine," is still unfit for use. He and his trainer, Jones, will go up to San Francisco on Saturday, and the probability is that he will not have much difficulty in finding a match in the near future.

NOTES.

It has been decided to play the international cricket match between the United States and Canada in Philadelphia July 11, 12 and 13.

H. A. Bashford, the champion wing shot of Central California, is out with a challenge to shoot any man in America for $1000 or $2500 a side.

Joseph Grant, the manager of Theodore Winter's stable, offers to back one of the Joe Hooker two-year-olds at a mile against any youngster for $1500 a side.

Porter Ashe grew enthusiastic over his stable in California last week. "Geraldine is in great shape, Queen Alita will make the best of the three-year-olds stretch their necks, and Dinero and Paisano have filled nicely, which I have five as good two-year-olds by Alita as ever looked through a bridle," was his comment.

Question of Commissions and Cut Rates in the East.

Santa Fe Operators—How Needles Loses a Shining Mark—General, Local and Personal Railroad Mention.

Passenger demoralization is again devastating Eastern territory. Rate-cutting has advanced beyond control and differential lines are reveling in the payment of commissions. The prevailing commission between Chicago and New York is now $4 and the tendency is buoyant. The efforts of the strong lines to annihilate the practice by the differential roads has been a well-balanced failure. They have apparently ceased the struggle for the present. Their thoughts are elsewhere. They are developing a new plan, one which has long been a dream and is now in process of demonstration. It is the syndicate scheme, the agreement to interchange business with western roads equitably on the basis that neither shall pay commissions to the agents of the other. This arrangement has been in effect for about two years between the Pennsylvania and one or two other Western lines. It was recently adopted by the New York Central, Lake Shore and Michigan Central and one or two Western lines. Still more recently the strong Eastern lines have been actively spreading the new propaganda among their Western connections. Two conferences were held, one at New York and one at Pittsburgh, which were attended by the representatives of four or five Western systems. The latter agreed to give the new plan a trial and have instructed some of their agents accordingly. It applies only to the business of the roads that are parties thereto. The Western systems continue to pay commissions to the ticket agents of differential lines.

The Chicago Herald says that the plan is arousing the lines that are third parties to it. Taken all in all, the differential Eastern lines to the more active pursuit of business. It is stirring up the Western lines not engaged in the experiment. Among the latter are the Rock Island, the Maple Leaf and the Alton. Among the former are the Erie, the Grand Trunk, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Nickel Plate. This experiment is decidedly the most important passenger deal in several years. The payment of commissions has been one of the most vexing problems of the railroad department for many years. A new method has been employed to avoid the practice. The experiment will be closely watched. Meanwhile the outsiders keep adding to their commissions.

NO HALF-RATE TO THE CONVENTION.

Among the representatives of various railroads and persons interested especially in the national conventions soon to meet at Minneapolis, Minnesota, there was much talk yesterday over the news that the Southern Pacific Company would not make a half-rate, says the San Francisco Examiner of Saturday. Irwin C. Stump, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was inclined to state at first that the railroad had refused to make such a rate, but that all others in the Transcontinental Association were apparently willing. A dispatch from Chicago on this point was emphatic in saying that every other road stood ready to make the half-rate. The Southern Pacific, however, was not so ready. It was not until the Transcontinental Association, said that one reason the Southern Pacific would not make a rate for the convention was that if it did so this year it would be expected to make a rate for the World's Fair traffic next year, and that it was holding out to avoid this. In other words, he said the road proposed to make all it could on the convention delegates and visitors this year without reducing rates and also come in next year on its regular rate, or something closely approximating it. He also pointed out that the Chicago dispatch was in error in saying that the other roads would not come in, make the half-rate anyway.

"That they cannot do," said he, "for by the terms of agreement of the several roads in the Transcontinental Association all must agree and unite in a reduction. Even if all the other roads were willing to come in and even to stand their quota by reason of the failure of the Southern Pacific to do so they could not do it. The terms of agreement are very binding, and, as things are now, must be adhered to, else everything will go to pieces. There is another thing that ought to be considered, too. While it is true that the round-trip rate from Chicago to San Francisco, for instance, is $100, the round-trip rate from here there is $110. The proposition to make a half-rate did not come up at the Monterey meeting. I was there. It was talked up on the side but it soon became apparent that the Southern Pacific was opposed to it. On this account it was not pushed. I think it extremely doubtful if the Southern Pacific will come in at all. It wants to make all the money it can and intends to fight any such a rate as has been proposed."

"NEEDLES LOVES HIM."

This is the way the Needles' Eye refers to an Atlantic and Pacific Railroad official: "Superintendent John Denair, the best all-round railroad man in the West, the most popular official who ever had charge at Needles and one of the best men on God's green footstool (if we did say it before) was in Needles last Tuesday to the delight of his friends here, and to the evident satisfaction of the superintendent, too. The good man has a tender, a very tender spot, in his great big heart for Needles, and maybe you don't think Needles loves him?"

As high as $90 an acre was paid for the greater part of the tract.

HENKLE'S DEATH.

The Inquest Held Yesterday—Result of the Post Mortem.

Coroner Weiden held an inquest yesterday upon the body of Andrew W. Henkle, the unfortunate man who was accidentally killed at the corner of Fourth and Alameda streets Saturday evening while at work upon a live wire of the Los Angeles Electric Light Company. No other facts, other than those already published, were elicited, and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death by "a shock of electric light wires at the corner of Fourth and Alameda while attending to his duty for the Los Angeles Electric Company." Henkle was a native of Wisconsin, 32 years of age. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, by which organization he will be buried this afternoon.

THE POST MORTEM.

Before the inquest a post mortem was held on the body of Henkle, at which were present Drs. MacGowan, Kannon, Weiden, McCarty and Bryant. Much interest has been manifested in this case, from the fact that so much has of late appeared in the public press depicting the horrors of death by electric shock as shown in the execution by electricity in New York. It being stated that frequent applications were necessary to produce death, and the scenes so terrible as to cause strong men to faint, whereas in almost every case of accident, as in the present, death has apparently been instantaneous and painless.

Rev. J. H. Collins, of the Railroad Street Church, reported that J. A. Matt, of No. 47 Ann street, had left his home on Thursday morning last, since which time nothing has been heard of him. He left a wife and four small children to his widow, who is in a deplorable condition. Matt has been drinking heavily of late, and did not go to his house until 5 o'clock Thursday morning. His wife chided him for his neglect of herself and children, when he left, as she stated.

Matt is a married man, 39 years of age, is 5 feet 8 1/2 inches high, and when last seen wore a gray coat and striped trousers. The foregoing of the right hand is stiff.

"What! Hoot! Ugh! Ugh!" cried the startled colored gentleman, grabbing that most vulnerable part of his anatomy and carefully moving it out of her way.

"Ain't you going to give me that seat," she sweetly inquired, swaying toward him as if getting ready to drop on her knees.

The movement alarmed the young gentleman in the next seat, and he hastily let go of his tender moustache and rose and politely offered his place.

"Thank you, thank you very much, sir," said the gentleman, a "borned Kentiaman."

"The young man, who had suddenly become the focus of a good many tittering eyes, blushingly acknowledged the compliment, but looked uneasily around for a way out of his embarrassment. Still, at the rate of 250 words a minute:

"I can tell a gentleman every time. I'll say that you have a good mother, sir, as knows how to bring children up. Bless you, sir, I see the grace of God in your face!"

But somehow the rest of the folks didn't see anything of the sort—only a face as red as a boiled beet, and this he hailed hilariously. While the unhappy youth fairly plowed his way through the crowded aisle to get out of range of the saddle-tinted Southerner smiled a seven-inch smile.

THE DIPSONOMIA CURE.

The Test at the Sisters' Hospital Progressing Favorably.

The test of the dipsonomia cure by THE TIMES, as outlined on Sunday last, is progressing favorably. The two subjects now at the Sisters' Hospital were visited by the examining physicians yesterday, and found to be doing very nicely. It is yet too early to give any positive information, as they have only been under treatment since Thursday last. Both of the men are hopeful of good results, and express themselves as highly pleased with the manner in which they are treated. They think there is some improvement, but say they will give a fair statement at the conclusion of the test. The cure is that of Dr. Tyson of Kenton, O., and the conditions are that the remedy is to have a fair trial, THE TIMES paying the expenses of the subjects, and if it is a success to say so; on the other hand, if it is a failure this fact will be announced, and Mr. Rutledge, the representative of Dr. Tyson, is to donate $100 to the charitable institutions of the city.

A Volt Defined.

A definition of a volt which, although somewhat unscientific, may prove suggestive to readers, is given in the Chicago Evening Post, in the following terms: "The volt gives one blow of a specific force. As volts are added together the force of the blow is increased until the endurance limit is reached. It takes about twenty-five volts to make a perceptible tingling sensation. When fifty volts pass through the body the tingling sensation becomes unmistakable, but not strong, while 100 volts feels lively, 200 volts strong, 300 volts powerful, 400 volts titanic, and 500 volts will knock a man flat."

Some excitement was caused yesterday afternoon, in front of the Hollenbeck, about 3:30 o'clock, by a young society man's fighting bull-dog, which jumped out of his phaeton and proceeding to "chew up" another dog. The interesting fight was stopped before any damage was done, and the crowd soon dispersed.

The "Thimble Club" met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Dukeman on South Pearl street. The president, Mrs. Cole, having just passed her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, was presented by the club with a beautiful spoon with oxidized handle and golden bowl, in which was an engraved "thimble," and underneath the word "Club." An appropriate poem accompanied the presentation, after which delicate refreshments, consisting of tea and wafers, cake and ice cream, were served.

Conversing with Animals.
(London Reference.)

Prof. Garner is continuing his experiments in monkey language, and will shortly publish a handy vocabulary, which will enable visitors at the Zoo to carry on a pleasant conversation with a chimpanzee. That we shall some day thoroughly understand not only the simian tongue, but the language of the horse, the dog, and the cat, is not only possible, but exceedingly probable. It says very little for the intelligence of man that he hasn't learnt animal language long ago. Dogs understand the language of man, and so do horses. It surely ought not to be harder for a man to understand a dog than for a dog to understand a man.

When we understand what animals say, I don't expect we shall be particularly flattered by their opinion of us. It is a great pity that the present experiments are being confined to monkeys in cages. Their conversation can't possibly be interesting, because they can only look at life from a zoological garden point of view. Now a cat that has passed its life in a kitchen, or a dog that has kept its ears open and had the run of the drawing-room would probably have something to tell us which could not fail to be interesting.

SAN DIEGO'S COLLECTOR.

The fight against Collector Berry of the port of San Diego is still being vigorously prosecuted, and the department at Washington is in receipt of frequent telegrams and letters making charges against the collector. Mr. Berry does not seem to be at all disturbed over the matter, and in talking about the case to a San reporter, said:

The fight against me from here is led by D. O. McCarthy and the precocious lad who calls him father—the same lad who usually represents the McCarthy precinct in Republican county conventions and then votes against the nominees of the party at the elections. These men were interrupted by me in their profitable occupation of conducting a market for the sale of Mexican stock and other products at Siempreviva on the Mexican boundary.

People's Store!

WAR.

We have this day declared war against our Shoe Department. Have you any idea what this meant? If not, read it carefully. We are overstocked on Shoes; they must be sold. In order to do this and do it quickly, we will wage war against them. We will cut and slash prices to such an extent that it will astonish everybody. We can sell them for more money at wholesale than we shall offer them to you for. We stand ready to lose many a dollar during this sale, but our loss shall be your gain. Bear this in mind—that we are offering no old shop-worn goods, but fresh new stock, which has been arriving daily.

Don't Fail to Attend the Sale!
